Summary of reasons for decision:

This DVD contains a previously classified comedy feature from the United States and additional components, including deleted scenes, a gag reel, and one trailer. The previously examined DVD version of the feature was classified as R13 with the descriptive note, "Contains offensive language and sexual references" (OFLC No. 1100942.000). There are two versions of the feature on this Blu-ray disc: one is identical to the version already examined and classified, the other has small differences in some scenes that are not substantial in terms of overall content.

None of the additional content on this DVD provides grounds to alter the classification and descriptive note given to the previously examined version of this title.
